  "overallRating": 82,
  "team": "Skilled developers and blockchain experts with years of combined experience. However, more details about the team's background and expertise could increase trust and credibility.",
  "whitepaper": "Comprehensive and well-structured whitepaper with clear definitions, use-cases, and business plans. However, a layman-oriented summary for non-technical audience would be an ideal addition.",
  "tokenomics": "NEAR Protocol's token supply is relatively high with circulating supply at 1217906154 and total supply at 1225066553. However, more transparency around token distribution and allocation strategy is advised.",
  "community": "The project enjoys considerable community engagement across various platforms with evident activity. However, more efforts to drive positivity and foster community growth would be beneficial.",
  "roadmap": "An ambitious, however clear roadmap. Adherence to outlined milestones will need to be observed over coming years for sustainability and trust.",
  "strengths": ["Strong development team", "Comprehensive whitepaper", "High community engagement", "Robust token supply"],
  "weaknesses": ["Relative lack of transparency around team", "Lack of easy to understand resources for non-technical users", "Absence of a clear token allocation strategy", "Potential over-ambition in roadmap"],
  "recommendations": "Focus on maintaining transparency by revealing details about team, participate actively in community discussions and ensure to provide clear explanations about roadmap milestones. In addition, creating resources for non-technical users would likely make the project more accessible."
